caused the artist to come to the bed of death. It was there that Edward ed in the race." saw the desolate damsel; it was there a serious first love took place, amid the tears of the one and the pious work of the other. The year which elapsed after this epoch had but strengthened the bond formed under these auspices, and the young man had showed to the father both his desire and hope.

The excellent Toby had no reason whatever for opposing the mutual in clinations of the two young persons. Without being rich, Edward earned by means of his pencil what sufficed to support a family honorably. His THIS HOUSE, situated on Locust Street, opposite the Court House, is always open for the accommodation of day and week boarders, on terms as reasonable as any house in the city.
